

TORRANCE CENTENARIAN PROGRAM

Ora N. Baker Parton Honored at Council Meeting for 100th Birthday

At the Tuesday, May 20, City Council meeting, we were proud to honor our seventh Torrance Centenarian, Ora N. Baker Parton, who recently celebrated her 100th birthday. Ora, joined by her family, was recognized with a proclamation presented by the mayor and a special centenarian coin from the Commission on Aging.

Ora was born in 1925 in Longmont, Colorado, but later moved to Torrance, where she attended Torrance High School. During World War II, she served as a riveter, helping build airplanes in support of the war effort. She later worked for 20 years at the local Sears department store, followed by time at the Gift Corner.

Ora is the proud grandmother of six grandsons and great-grandmother to twelve great-grandchildren. We are grateful for her contributions and were honored to celebrate this milestone with her.
